THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

The Showdown At Hand

Washington, May 14.—If it has not been clear before, certainly John L. Lewis and his coal strike must have made it clear by now that unless some way is found to restore some degree of courage and character to the Government of the United States, this isn't going to be any kind of country at all for any of us.

THE TRUCE called by Mr. Lewis and the prospective settlement of the current calamitous controversy does not alter the fact that this particular strike has brought us to the verge of complete economic paralysis; that the series of strikes with which we have been afflicted in recent months, plus the more than 1,000,000 notice of which have been given as coming, have black-jacked and blackmailed us into a humiliating position, exhibit us as a great nation unable to maintain a decent self-respect or protect the lives of the people from the arrogance and greed of as tough a set of professional labor bullies as has ever been known.

THIS is not exaggeration. It is a bald statement of fact. In alliance with the late Mr. Roosevelt and with a Supreme Court packed for them by him, the big union bosses have acquired unprecedented legal authority and political power. As a result, they now threaten to dominate the Democratic party and to bow the Republicans. We ought to face the facts. As a result of thirteen years of shameful political coddling and presidential subservience, these labor professionals have built themselves up to the point where they actually aspire to run the country, which undoubtedly they are on their way to do—unless we quickly recover our manhood and slap them down.

THE giddy whirl of international affairs, coupled with a multitude of post-war domestic problems, have combined to bewilder the average American and prevent him from seeing this labor domination clearly. It is further obscured by the unprecedentedly elaborate and expensive CIO publicity machine. Its size, cost and character are a story by themselves. It is enough now to say that no other propaganda anywhere approaches it in volume and extent. However, it has not prevented those capable of discernment from appreciating the full design of this concededly Communist-flavored organization. They know that the men who run it have plans far more ambitious than merely to raise the wages and living level of industrial workers.

TODAY, political power is their great goal, to attain which millions of dollars are being expended and 18 states drenched with "literature." The extraordinary widening of CIO activities in recent years is significant. Observers have seen this agency this year launch a union of government employees with a strike provision in its charter. They have seen it enter the realm of sport in an effort to organize big-league baseball, and they have seen it edging into our great humanitarian and charitable agencies, such as the Red Cross. With the latter, it revealed its real purpose when, after learning that the Red Cross, impelled by widespread protest, would not renew a contract that never should have been made, it

Activities of Interest To All in The Various Communities

GLEAINED BY SCRIBES

Miss Fae June Rantz, who will be graduated from West Chester State Teachers College this month with the B. S. degree in elementary education, has been elected teacher of third grade in the Central building of the Quakertown schools, and will begin her duties at the opening of school in September. Miss Rantz is a daughter of Mrs. Cordelia Heller Rantz, Quakertown.

At a largely attended public sale of the personal property of the J. Frank Aftersbach estate, Perkaskie, a drop-leaf cherry table was sold for $68. Spirited bidding marked the sale, and many items were bid to unusually high figures.

An old maid named Mrs. Aftersbach purchased for $6 many years ago was bid to $102. A history of Bucks county went under the hammer at $14, and a rope bed at $11.

Among other items sold were night table, $31; spinning wheel, $15; mantle clock, $38; 3 plank chairs, $23.25; chest of drawers, $13; and quilts sold as high as $8. Rugs were bid as high as $71. A number of oil lamps were sold, the highest bid going to $8.50.

Sales of U. S. Saving Bonds in Bucks county during April surpassed the previous month. Charles J. Miel, State Director, announced today.

E Bond sales in April amounted to $176,868; F Bonds, $190,751; G Bonds, $187,709; and a total of $455,329 in Bucks county.

In Pennsylvania's 67 counties the total sale amounted to $55,898,063 in April. Montgomery county's total was $1,615,349; Lehigh, $586,691.25; Northampton, $1,153,664.

Mrs. Paul H. Mikkelson will leave Perkaskie in the near future to join her husband, Capt. Mikkelson, who is stationed on Guam. Capt. Mikkelson has 15 years' service in China, the Philippines, Guantanamo Bay, Puerto Rico, Guadalcanal, Saipan and Okinawa.

At present Capt. Mikkelson is in charge of the Signal Supply Depot at Guam.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

Soft-coal operators agreed to pay a $3,000,000 disputed overtime claim to the miners' union and John L. Lewis immediately demanded a 7% royalty on every ton mined for a health and welfare fund. It was estimated that this would cost $70,000,000 a year and the operators were expected to reject it.

The Senate, debating anti-strike legislation, ran into legal complications on an amendment that would make any union royalties or taxes on production illegal. Only about one-third of the miners in Pennsylvania obeyed Mr. Lewis' order to return to work.

With the railroad trainmen and engineers scheduled to walk out Saturday, 15 non-operating unions mailed strike ballots to their 1,100,000 members. A rail strike, it was said, would affect New York worse than all other strikes and the Board of Health was alerted to declare "a state of imminent peril" if necessary.

Former President Hoover told President Truman the world grain deficit had been cut from 11,000,000 tons to 3,500,000 and could be reduced further with greater co-operation from Britain and Russia. He agreed to visit South America as a

THE STATE ELECTION

A week from today the Democratic and Republican Parties will nominate their candidates for the Election of State Officials, which will be run off next November.

The primaries are for the determination of party nominees. Only voters who are registered as members of a party can vote for its candidates. All Republicans who are registered should go to the polls and vote for their choice, regardless of whether they think they are going to be elected anyway.

The selection of proper officials for the State Government is a matter of extremely great importance to all Pennsylvania citizens.

In a little over seven years, Pennsylvania has come so far under Republican leadership that it is hard to remember the extreme trouble into which the state got in 1935 when the Little New Deal came into power in Harrisburg.

The four years of Democratic rule were a headache of soaring taxes, extravagance, scandals and confusion. At the end of this period, Pennsylvania went back to the Republican Party by a landslide. Governor James took over with the finances of the state demoralized—$71,000,000 in unfinanced obligations left on his lap, appropriations used up long before the end of the budget period, and laws passed for countless new spending programs without a cent provided to pay for them.

Seven years later, a second Republican Governor, Edward Martin, has succeeded in slashing taxes, piling up a large reserve for post-war projects, and greatly reduced the public debt of the State despite many large new expenditures such as greatly increased State aid to teachers.

COL. STRICKLER IS BUCKINGHAM SPEAKER

"Let's Get Country Back On
Even Keel; Vote Straight
Republican Ticket"

800 IN ATTENDANCE

BUCKINGHAM, May 14.—"Let's get the country back on an even keel by voting the straight Republican ticket," Col. Daniel B. Strickler, of Lancaster County, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor of Pennsylvania, told an audience of nearly 800 men and women last night who attended the May meeting of the Loyal Republican Club of Bucks County, here. Col. Strickler, a distinguished war veteran who was recently made a brigadier general in the newly organized National Guard of Pennsylvania, was presented by former United States Senator Joseph R. Grundy.

Col. Strickler told his audience that he was glad to enter the campaign of public service again in Pennsylvania and declared that Pennsylvania will be the center of the fight at the November elections and that all states are awaiting the outcome in Pennsylvania. "Millions of our returned veterans are thinking today of the part they are going to play in politics from now on. The American veteran, and I believe that I know them as well as anyone living, thinks of no other 'isms' but Americanism. The issue, this year, therefore, is in reality, a patriotic one. The veteran, I can assure you, believes in religious freedom, God and the church. He believes that a man has the right to make money and at the same time he is all for the man who labors to live. Now, our veterans are back home to see what America is like." Col. Strickler said that "America is no longer a geographical division; America means the

SHAD BEING CAUGHT IN DELAWARE HERE

Some Localities Fishing A Few Nights A Week; G.
Trout Gets 25

H. GOSLIN REMINISCES

Is shad fishing staging a comeback here?

That is the question on the tongues of men who have fished the waters of the Delaware river for shad in years gone by. In those days shad were caught in quantities and sold for a "song."

There are a few fishermen who are now fishing a few nights each week, but the biggest catch of the present season was made Friday night when George Trout brought in 25 of the toothsome delicacies. He caught them near the Burlington-Bristol bridge off the "stoneboat," a spot where it is said a boat load of stone sank several years ago. The shad weighed between four and 4½ pounds each and were fine eating. Trout gave all of his catch to his friends.

Older residents here remember when the Delaware river was full of shad and the nets of fishermen covered the water between Trenton and Philadelphia. Large quantities of shad were caught here and it was often wondered how, in view of the many fishermen having nets in the lower Delaware during those days, so many shad got past and were caught farther up stream, in the vicinity of Point Pleasant and New Hope.

In the Doylestown Intelligencer of April 27, 1896, it was announced that that date "was the greatest day in the annals of shad fishing at Point Pleasant."

"Announcement was made that 1,642 shad were caught at the Kilmer fishery in one day."

"The fish came up the river in large numbers."
"Over 300 were sold in Doylestown principally by Benjamin Caffey and Asher R. Lear, who received from 19 to 25 cents each for them." Meat dealers in the County Seat declared their business had been hurt because of the great influx of the fish."

Harry Goslin, of 221 Market street, an old-time fisherman, during his leisure often lets his thoughts wander to the early days of shad-fishing on the Delaware. In reminiscing Goslin mentioned that he and John Hunter for a long time had a shad-fishing partnership. "I

APPLICATION FOR BUS EXTENSION IS IN HANDS OF PUC

Submitted By Representatives of Neibauer Co.; Testimony In Philadelphia

30 FROM AREA THERE

Co. Asks 3-Mile Extension,
Out Rogers Road To Durham Road

PHILADELPHIA, May 14.—(INS)—An application asking for extension of the Neibauer Bus lines to cover the residents living north of Bristol today is in the hands of the Public Utility Commission following a hearing in Philadelphia City Hall yesterday.

The application was submitted to P. U. C. Examiner Jay Eisman by attorney Abraham Nathanson, representing E. W. Neibauer, general manager of the bus line. Testimony in Room 682, City Hall, on the case, took approximately one hour.

Present in the courtroom were 30 residents of Bristol township who had been brought down to Philadelphia by the Neibauer Co. to testify for the need of extra bus service.

The company asked for an approximate three-mile extension from U. S. Route 13 starting at Otter St., Bristol, and running out Rogers Road, with the terminus at Durham Road.

Neibauer also requested a continuation of the permit to run its normal line past Fleetwings plant. The firm has been running on a temporary wartime permit granted in January, 1944, and renewed last year.

An important witness at the PUC hearing was Morton S. Muggah, president of National Housing, Inc., with offices in the Fidelity-Philadelphia Trust Building. The firm is owned by Edward P. Simon.

Muggah testified that his company intended to build as many as 600 new houses in Winder Village, Bristol Township, as soon as the Federal Housing Administration and other government agencies granted the necessary rights and permission.

"We're going to build three or four houses at first to feel out the response," Muggah explained. "The houses will be constructed along Rogers Road, just opposite Winder Village and opposite the school."

Muggah, asked if the Neibauer Co.'s proposed extension would be needed for residents of the projected houses, replied:

"Any new development such as this will require transportation adequate for the needs of the people—for example, it would be necessary for transporting wives and children when the husbands have taken their automobiles to work with them."

Earlier, E. W. Neibauer, had testified that a survey had been taken after V-E Day and V-J Day which showed there had been no appreciable decrease in passengers on the existing Neibauer routes in Bristol.

He said that Howard L. Zepp of Winder Village had contacted him and requested an extension of the bus line to Winder Village, which is some one and three-quarter miles from the shopping and social center of Bristol. There had also been requests, he said—from the people along Rogers Road.

Neibauer pointed out further that there was no competing bus company in the area and that the Pennsylvania Railroad station in Bristol was 2½ to three miles from Winder Village.

MASS MIGRATION OF 12,000 PREDICTED

Eviction Proceedings Started
By New Home Owners
Desiring Occupancy

IN SIX MONTHS PERIOD

The mass migration of more than 12,000 persons in the Philadelphia area within the next three to six months through eviction proceedings by new owners desiring occupancy was forecast today by the Office of Price Administration in Philadelphia if all of the 3140 petitions filed last month with the Area Rent Office here are granted.

Frank J. Loftus, OPA District Director, Philadelphia, said the number of petitions filed last month for Philadelphia and the four adjoining counties was practically double that of the same month a year ago when 1670 petitions were filed and 20 per cent above March of this year when a heretofore record total of 2615 petitions was filed.

Other rent offices in the Philadelphia district showed similar increases. In York and Lancaster counties, 328 petitions were filed last month as against 194 last year. In the five-county Harrisburg rental area, there were 315 filed this year as against 139 in April, 1945. In Berks County, 194 petitions were filed this year as against 109 last year. In Lehigh and Northampton counties, 261 petitions were filed last month as against 94 last year.

"Where these people will go is a mystery," Loftus said, in pointing out that the local vacancy rate today is well under one per cent and that many of these vacant properties are uninhabitable.

Loftus said his agency was closely scrutinizing all petitions and was prepared to act in all cases where false statements were uncovered. Last month in the Philadelphia area, 652 petitions were rejected as defective while 75 were withdrawn.

Loftus said the percentage of petitions being filed by veterans had risen from a scattering last year to 50.5 per cent in the Philadelphia area, 48 per cent in the Harrisburg area, 45 per cent in Lehigh and Northampton counties, 40 per cent in the York-Lancaster area and 31 per cent in Berks County.

The average value of properties involved has passed the $6000 mark in the Philadelphia and York-Lancaster areas, $5100 in Lehigh and Northampton counties, $4700 in Berks County and $4200 in the Harrisburg area. This is approximately 20 per cent higher than was the case a year ago and nearly 50 per cent higher than two years ago.

Loftus said the pressure on tenants might begin to ease within the next two to three months when veteran housing might begin to make itself felt.

Foreign Ministers Consider Trieste Question

Paris.—The Council of Foreign Ministers wrestled with the problem of Trieste again today, making little or no progress toward solution of the matter in a two-and-one-half-hour session.

A member of the American delegation told International News Service that the Trieste question (an apparently insurmountable barrier to convoking a summer peace conference) remained deadlocked after the morning meeting.

Submit Motions for Dismissal of War-Crime Charges

Tokyo.—Defense attorneys submitted a variety of motions for dismissal of war crimes charges against 28 Japanese war-time leaders today in the second day of a hearing before the International Tribunal of the Far East.

An American defense attorney, Major Ben Bruce Blakeney of Oklahoma City, argued that murder indictments against Hideki Tojo and 15 other defendants should be dismissed.

Blakeney declared that killing in war could not be termed a criminal act and cited the atomic bombing of Hiroshima in support of his contention. Tojo and his co-defendants are charged with murder in connection with the deaths of Rear Admiral Isaac Kidd and thousands of other Americans at Pearl Harbor.

PARKING METERS APPROVED BY COUNCIL FOR MILL STREET AREA; TO ENACT NEW PARKING ORDINANCE

Survey Calls for Installation of 150 Meters and New Parking Regulations—Attention of Residents is Called to Proper Way to Place Garbage for Collection—Ashes Must Be Kept Separate.

With a 100% attendance on the part of councilmen, Bristol Borough Council last night considered as the main issue the installation of parking meters in the downtown shopping district and the proper collection of garbage in the borough. Burgess Jacob C. Schmidt, Sr., attended the session.

Council voted to have 150 Miller multiple coin parking meters installed providing the contract with the Duncan Meter Corporation of Chicago meets with the approval of the borough solicitor and is agreed to by borough council.

A new ordinance has to be enacted governing the installation and operation of the meters as well as regulating parking. A tentative plan calls for placing the meters on both sides of Mill street, Radcliffe street from Mill to Market street, one side of Market street, one side of Pond street from Market to Mill street; and the same on Wood and Cedar streets. Parking on the other sides of Pond, Wood and Cedar streets will be prohibited.

It is planned to charge a parking fee of one cent for each 12 minutes of parking time and both pennies and nickels can be used in the meters.

The borough will not have to lay out any money for the meters as the cost is to be paid out of revenue from the meters.

There may be an extension of the area covered by the meters, other than the streets suggested in the tentative plans.

The recommendation was made to council that the meters be installed by William A. Pearson, chairman of the street committee. Council voted its approval unanimously.

R. T. Myers, chairman of health and sanitation committee, informed council that the new contractor for the collection of garbage, John Secoda, is collecting only the garbage and therefore ashes and garbage will in no instances be collected together. Residents are therefore informed that the ashes must not be mixed with the garbage or it will not be collected. It must also be placed on a highway where trucks have free access and it must be placed for collection not later than seven a. m.

Secoda stated he would collect garbage on Mill street at seven o'clock on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays so as not to interfere with traffic. It was explained that when collections are made later during the day the truck cannot get into the curb due to cars being parked, and that if the truck is stopped in the center of the street, traffic is impeded, and the men are compelled to walk in and out between the cars to get the garbage cans and thus a hazard is created. The hour for making the collection in this area met with the approval of council.

Take Further Steps Opposing Reservoir

WARRINGTON, May 14.—Further steps in the fight against the proposal of Philadelphia to establish a large water reservoir in Warrington and Hordsham townships were taken at an executive committee meeting of the citizens of the former township at the C. Leroy Murray home here, a few nights ago.

Taking part in the discussion were George Q. Tettmer, Mr. Murray, Stephen Kuntz and County Commissioner Edward C. Hancock.

Announcement was made that a petition signed by about 1,500 residents of the township has been forwarded to Mayor Samuel and Philadelphia City Council. The petition points out that the people of Warrington township protest and oppose the proposed plan to establish a reservoir for the use of Philadelphia on the proposed location being surveyed in Warrington township.

Persons opposing the proposition pointed out that if the plan is carried out, some 270 homes in the township would be destroyed. These, it was said, have an assessed valuation of over $600,000. Their claim also it would result in a loss of $5,000 annually in road taxes, $3,000 in county taxes and $8,000 in school taxes.

The cut in the school funds, it was said, would have a direct bearing on whether the township could proceed with its proposed school consolidation plans.

POSTWAR SIR TROUBLES

The generals and the admirals are on the defensive but they probably are not losing too much sleep over postwar outbursts against the officer caste system in the American defense force. They know their history. They know that after every great war the people and the politicians complain loud and long about what they call the undemocratic armed forces.

But the people and the politicians soon forget, and the Army, Navy and Marines go their way, as officers and men, as they always have in this country and in every other country.

Nor is the criticism of the officer corps confined to wartime. In 1839, a bill to abolish West Point on the ground that it was hatching an aristocracy came near passing Congress. Cadet U. S. Grant recalled that he read newspaper accounts of the progress of the bill with the hope that it would become law and he would be sent home.

In the Civil War, the Regular Army was kept intact. Volunteers elected their officers. That was supposed to be democratic. But it took the elected officers two years to condition their men for effective battle. The system speeded enactment of the land college act, which required the training of students for officer duty. In the last two wars mistakes were made. Some officers failed. But most of them were true to their creed and their responsibility.

It is likely, therefore, that the present agitation for Army and Navy reorganization may correct some abuses and further emphasize merit over seniority. But it can hardly be expected to affect the basic pattern. Nor should it be. The Russian Reds tried the precinct committee system until the professional officers of the little Finnish army stood off the invading Communist divisions with military science and disciplined troops. The officer system offends those who are not officers, but it wins wars.

SOUNDING AN ALERT

Traffic accidents drive home the accuracy of the National Safety Council's prediction that the end of the war would bring to the country the greatest crop of driving injuries and fatalities in history. Everyone who drives must be conscious that possible injury or death rides at the wheel, waiting for some slip on his part, or some lapse of judgment. With every driver operating his machine with greatest conscientiousness, there will still be more accidents during 1946 than most persons will care to contemplate.

Inventor of the two-pants suit died recently, unhonored, unsung and his invention outlawed by the OPA.

Tojo and his gang have been accused of fifty-five separate war crimes. That is known as throwing the book at them.

Meat stocks are reported to be the lowest in years. A lot of humans and dogs are in for more bare cupboards.

It is doubtful if a more striking example of the contrast between sound and unsound state policies could ever be found. No one who takes the trouble to examine the four Democratic years and the seven Republican years would vote for a relapse into the Little New Deal.

The way for Republicans to be sure no such relapse will occur is to go to the polls a week from today and vote for the regular Republican ticket.

The State ticket is a team, headed by James H. Duff, Attorney General under Governor Martin. It should be voted for as a team. In voting for this state ticket, every Republican can have the assurance that he is backing up his Party's wishes. The ticket has been endorsed by 66 out of 67 County Republican organizations, as well as unanimously by the Republican State Executive Committee.

Three high executive offices of the State are to be filled. Highest, of course, is that of Governor. He is head of the State government. It is his responsibility to maintain peace and good order in the State, see to it that all the public functions of the Commonwealth are operated efficiently and economically, and to be sure the people get their value for their taxes.

The Lieutenant Governor, who presides over the State Senate and sits with several state bodies such as the Pardon Board, is important primarily because he is the man who will succeed to the Governorship if the Governor from any cause becomes unable to serve out his term.

The Secretary of Internal Affairs is in charge of a large and important department of government, one function of which is to supervise standard weights and measures in the State, and another to act in an advisory capacity to all the lesser units of local government — counties, third-class cities, boroughs, towns, townships, and school and poor districts.

The other important branch of the State Government which is to be voted on is the legislative branch—the General Assembly. Half of the Senate and all of the House of Representatives are to be elected.

The functions of a legislature are, broadly speaking, to pass laws and to enact enough taxes to carry them out. A legislature which, like some which Pennsylvania has experienced, is committed to follow blindly some mysterious program of "social benefits," usually winds up having run the State deep in debt and reached none of the goals it was seeking.

On the other hand, a legislature such as the Republican Party seeks, one which considers itself "part of the team" and pledges itself to use its best judgment in seeking to carry out the Republican program to which the State ticket is committed, can accomplish far more results and still keep the State's finances in balance.

All Republican voters who are interested in the welfare of their nation and their party will make it their business to familiarize themselves with the official party slate before next Tuesday, and on that date to go to the polls and vote for the candidates who have the virtually unanimous endorsement of County and State Republican leaders.

publicized a critical letter "declining to renew" on the ground that it was not accorded sufficient "participation" in policy. The net of all this is that the time has arrived for the showdown. The day is now at hand when the Senate will have to prove whether it is composed of men or mice.

THE opportunity exists now to restore the health of the emasculated Case bill as to protect the public interests. There is the best chance in years to enact a law that will end this unsound claim of the "sacred right to strike" and make it impossible in the future for any set of labor bosses to strangle the national economy—and bind upon any community into submission. There are resting in Senate committees now several bills which can be offered as amendments, and which not only are badly needed for the safety of the people as a whole but which are essential to the dignity of the Federal Government. If, with the temporary passing of the acute crisis, public sentiment again subsides and the desire of the Senate to act at last weakens, it will be a shocking thing. If a last-minute "truce" once more averts action, it will be a victory for the labor racketeers, stamping us as supine, inert, impotent in the face of danger to protect ourselves.

EVERY citizen resentful of the situation should closely watch the attitude of his representatives in the Senate. He should take every means of letting them know how he feels. And later, at the polls, he should vote for or against these senators according to their votes for or against real regulatory legislation. In that way—and in that way only—can this threat of labor dictation be nullified and the fear that so long has weighed upon our legislators be lifted.

IN that way—and that way only—can we pull out of this shocking mess into which the late Mr. Roosevelt got us and create a sound national labor policy. If Mr. Truman is wise, he will cease bleating about his devotion to the so-called "Roosevelt policies" and take a stand in this matter on the side of the great mass of Americans who belong to no union or other special group. That would not only be the patriotic thing to do but it would be the smartest possible politics.

Application For Bus Extension In Hands of PUC

"We have sufficient equipment to service the new area without interfering with the present lines we are operating," Neibauer told Examiner Eismann in response to a question.

Next, attorney Nathanson produced an array of witnesses from Winder Village and from the section north of Winder Village.

Mrs. Helen Zepp, of Winder Village, testified that there were 55 homes in the section, which is located about 1 1/2 miles from the shopping center of Bristol, notably Mill street.

"I have to walk to Bristol," Mrs. Zepp said. "And it's really terrible when I have packages to carry. I'm nearly dead when I get home. The new bus service is absolutely necessary to take care of our families."

Several other witnesses testified in the same vein, stating that their husbands took the cars to work in the morning and that hardship was involved in walking either to Bristol or to the other Neibauer bus line on Bristol Pike.

George W. Zepp, Elm street, Winder Village, stated that he was 87 years old, a pensioner from the city of Philadelphia, and that he had to walk the 1 1/2 miles to Bristol. "The walk is hard, but I don't eat unless I get food in Bristol," Zepp added.

These witnesses appeared to testify that the same difficulty faced residents above Winder Village as far north as Durham Road—Mrs. Lillian May Wallace, and Robert Backhouse, of New Rogers Road, Mrs. Catherine Ryan and Mrs. Mildred Schoell, Old Rogers Road.

Mrs. Ryan said that for two years she has been forced to walk in to Bristol and had to hire a taxicab to carry her parcels back home. She said the bus extension was necessary for her and 40 other residents of the area.

Examiner Eismann then closed the hearing with the statement that the application would be submitted to the Commission.

Neibauer later told International News Service that he was going to ask for an immediate, temporary permit to run the bus extension and that he hoped the Utility Commission would take final action on the application by next July.

The hearing was enlivened by the activity of eight or ten small children taken along by the witnesses from Bristol Township. Examiner Eismann at one time "suggested" that two particularly agitated youngsters be taken outside by their parents. They were.

intangible possessions that you cherish, such as freedom of enterprise. Those kind of people who would destroy the kind of constitution we have here in America would destroy the whole world. The time has arrived when we must demand our enemies to stop."

"The national administration is still adding to your payrolls and bringing up the greatest national debt of all history. Let's start to win our elections in the future on citizenship and not on the basis of padded payrolls." Col. Strickler spoke briefly on price control. He said he had never yet talked to an intelligent person who could explain it and he says you can't handle a thermometer.

He paid a great tribute to the women of America, mothers, wives and sweethearts of men who died in battle. He said he made it his duty to write to the relatives of those in his regiment who died, and that he had received answers from nearly everyone he wrote to. In every instance, he said the answers were not complaints but all spoke of the hope that the buddies of those who were killed, could come back home. "That is the spirit of converting back to peace."

The meeting was presided over by Harris Holmes, Doylestown, president of the club. Other candidates presented were: Edward B. Watson, Doylestown, candidate for state senator; Wilson Yeakel, Perkasie; Thomas P. Stockham, Morrisville, candidates for nomination again for the state assembly. Others called upon were Judge Hiram H. Keller and Republican County Chairman A. Harry Clayton; and Warren Watson, Doylestown, head of the Young Republicans of Bucks County; and Mrs. Ralph Dunn, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Loyal Republican Club. Mr. Watson, as candidate for state senator, was assured of a handsome majority at the state polls next Tuesday, as were the others.

TREVOSE, May 14—An attractive wedding was solemnized in Trevese Methodist Church on Saturday at four o'clock, when Miss Marie Willard became the bride of Mr. William W. Wright, Jr., of Andalusia. The double ring ceremony was used.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earle Willard, of Trevese, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wright, Andalusia. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The Rev. W. W. Kern was the officiating clergyman, and organ music was provided by Miss Hester Wright, sister of the groom. Mrs. Pauline Cunningham, matron of honor, was attired in blue and green broadcloth and net, cut on princess lines, with high neck and long pointed sleeves. She wore a sweetheart headpiece of the same material, and carried yellow roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Ruth Willard, Miss Emily Willard, sisters of the bride, and Miss Cathleen McClements, Philadelphia. The dresses were pink, styled like that of the matron of honor. Each carried arm bouquets of red roses. The flower girl was Miss Nyla Thomas, Cornwells Heights. Her gown was of yellow tulle with a style like that of the bride. She scattered sweet-peas and forget-me-nots in front of the bride as she walked down the aisle. The flower girl wore a headpiece of orange blossoms and pearls. The bride was gown in white tulle with a sweetheart neckline, tight bodice, and long pointed sleeves. Her finger-tip veil was caught with orange blossoms and pearls, and her long train was trimmed with lace. She wore a string of pearls and carried an arm bouquet of gardenias and lilies-of-the-valley.

The best man was Mr. Raymond Beauvais, Philadelphia, and ushers were Messrs. Neil Julliff, Andalusia; Wayne Vandegriff and George Hongland, of New Jersey.

The bride's mother chose pale blue with white accessories, and the groom's mother chose blue with white accessories. Each wore a corsage of sweet-peas. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

We thank thee, O God, for the beauty of another spring season. May the warm sunshine cheer our spirits. May the tender rains remind us of thy refreshing grace. May the growing things, green and vital, remind us of thy creative power ever at work. Our Father, may this season mean for us the springtime of our souls. And so may we know thy presence to be our source of comfort, guidance, and strength. Through Jesus Christ we pray. Amen.

SAINTS CHALK UP FIFTH VICTORY; BEAT ROHM & HAAS

"Charlie" Why no Holds R. & H. IX To Four Hits At Maple Beach

SCORE ENDS AT 11-1

Jesse Vanzant Is Only Player Who Is Able To Hit Why no

"Charlie" Why no held the Rohm and Haas team to four hits last evening in a Suburban League tilt on the Maple Beach grounds as St. Ann's A. continued its winning streak by chalking up victory No. 5.

Final count was: St. Ann's, 11; Rohm and Haas, 1.

Only Jesse Vanzant, who played his first game since returning home after seeing action with the Marines, was able to hit Why no. Vanzant stepped to the plate three times and had two singles. On his third trip he reached base on an error.

The score of this tilt would have been closer but for the fielding on Tony Palumbo whose playing robbed several Rohm and Haas batters of hits.

FLEETWINGS OFFERS SURPRISE IN A WIN

After losing five straight games, Fleetwings surprised the Bristol Legion last evening on Leedom's field with a 5-0 win.

"Pete" Talph, Burlington hurler, allowed the Legion boys but five scattered hits and had the situation well in hand from the start. He struck out twelve batters and never was in serious difficulty.

Gene Ashton hurled for the losers and settled down after a wobbly start which saw the "Wingers" score four of their five runs in the first two innings.
